Designed by architects Cigolle X Coleman (www.cxcarch.com), the TR-1 House and Studio was conceived to test ideas about light, space and material. Transparent and white glass allow sunlight into the house and studio, and a skylight brings light into the center of the house. In contrast, concrete walls and natural concrete floors anchor the structures to the ground and provide a sense of ambiguity and extension between inside and outside. The main residence, which sits an acre behind gates, includes parlor/living room with fireplace, den/study, family room/dining room, eat-in kitchen, five terraces, a roof deck, open master bedroom with large ancillary room. The studio contains a living room/studio with bedroom and bath. The property has ocean views and is a short walk to the beach.
